FISHING FOR SYLLABLES

This card game is played very much like "Go Fish." Two to four players may play. Deal out five cards to each player and place the rest of the deck on the table. The first player asks another for a card with the goal of finding a matching pair. However, he must name the type of syllable (closed, open, v-c-e) and then pronounce it. If the other player has the card, he gives it to the person requesting it and continues by asking for another card from someone. But, if the other player did not have the card, he will say "Go Fish" and the first player will pick up a card from the deck. If he picks up a matching pair, he continues. If not, play is resumed by the next player searching for a matching pair. The player with the most pairs wins the game. Bonus points may be to those who are able to make real words.
